

WILLKIE'S 18,000-MILE TOUR NEARS END IN NEW YORK

Both Candidates for U. S. Presidency Stay in East Today

Aboard Willkie Train in New Jersey, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, approaching the end of an 18,000-mile speaking tour, expressed belief today that President Roosevelt had expended more government funds than any other ruler in the world in the same length of time.

From a tiny platform in front of the white-pillared court house at New Brunswick, N. J., the Republican presidential nominee declared that his opponent had not lived up to a 1932 platform pledge to cut federal expenses.

"In eight years the federal budget never has approached a balance," Willkie asserted. "No man can balance a budget today, immediately, but worse than that, there is no attempt to balance it and apparently no desire to balance it."

The current defense program, he predicted, would cost 25 or 30 billion dollars before it is completed.

"That cost is going to be piled upon the overwhelming public debt," he continued. Asking what difference this would make to the average person, Willkie said:

"Saturated With Taxes"
"You pay the taxes. Every suit, every hat, every suit of clothes that I see in this crowd is literally saturated with taxes."

"More than that, when the costs of those things are increased, it has a depressing influence on business."

The nominee contended that governmental fiscal policies also affected "serious gains" of labor. It does no good to have collective bargaining, he asserted, if a man does not have a job to bargain about.

From continued deficit financing, he said, "inevitably come inflation, bankruptcy and chaos and out of the ashes of those things come dictators."

The only solution Willkie declared, "is to elect an administration which can stimulate business and provide jobs and raise the national income."

Expresses Confidence

At New Brunswick, Police Lieutenant W. J. Savage estimated the crowd at more than 10,000. Before he was introduced, the nominee smiled and waved his hand to the time of his campaign song, "We Want Willkie in the White House," played by a band beneath him.

Willkie said he had heard from "responsible people" this morning that he would carry Missouri, and that "the swing in Kentucky is coming more rapidly every hour."

"I feel very confident we are going to carry West Virginia," he added. "There is no question about what is going to happen in this state (New Jersey) despite Frank Hague."

AT ALL OUT STAGE

(By The Associated Press)
Hectic and historic, the 1940 presidential campaign reached its intensive, "all out" final stage today with both President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie opening their finish drives for the votes which will tell the story on Nov. 5.

In Washington, Roosevelt donned his "old campaigner" hat for a tri-state sweep into New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The timetable called for a major speech at Brooklyn tonight, another at Cleveland tomorrow night, and a last talk to the voters from his Hyde Park, N. Y. home on election eve.

Willkie, concentrating his finish "push" this week in two states which add up to 63 electoral votes, marked one section of New Jersey for his attention today and had a major address down for Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. Aides announced that from "somewhere in New Jersey" he planned a reply tonight by radio to Roosevelt's Boston speech of Wednesday charging Republicans in congress with obstructing both national defense program and efforts to benefit the farmer.

For Roosevelt, his departure from Washington today held unusual significance. If his present plans carry through and he is not recalled to his deck by some important turn in international affairs, the next time he sees the capital he will be either the victor or the vanquished in a third term fight.

For Willkie, the final drive betokened the approaching end of a strenuous campaign which already has taken him into 29 states and over 18,000 miles.

U. S. "Sick and Tired"

The United States, he told a Camden, N. J., audience last night, "is sick and tired of the type of government that treats our constitution like a scrap of paper" and regards the Supreme court as an "obstruction."

HON. LEO E. ALLEN

Representative in Congress from this district, who will join a caravan of Republicans in their tour of Lee county Saturday, and who will be the principal speaker at the final Republican rally of the campaign at Franklin Grove that evening.

Congressman Allen today announced the appointment of Lyle Snader of Dixon as his secretary, filling the vacancy caused by the recent death of John H. Byers, also of Dixon, who was dean of secretaries in the national capital.

Congressman Allen Franklin Grove Speaker

The Lee county Republican speaking campaign will conclude Saturday evening with a public meeting in Franklin Grove which will be addressed by Congressman Leo E. Allen of Galena. Congressman Allen will accompany the Republicans on the all-day tour of the county Saturday. The tour will stop at Steward at noon where dinner will be served at the Methodist church. In the evening the tour will terminate at Franklin Grove where the participants will enjoy the annual Gilbert oyster supper and attend the final rally to follow.

Last evening a very successful meeting was conducted at the Lee Center high school auditorium. County Chairman H. C. Warner, Senator George C. Dixon, Frank E. Nangle of Paw Paw and Joe Murphy of Dixon gave talks. The county candidates were also presented.

Other Meetings

This evening at the Hamilton town hall, Republicans of Hamilton and Harmon townships will combine in a meeting. Representatives Dennis Collins of DeKalb and George S. Brydian of Prophetstown, Joe Murphy and County Chairman H. C. Warner of Dixon will be the speakers. The Hill Billy band of East Grove township will furnish several selections during the evening.

Weather permitting, the Lee county Young Republican organization expects to present a monster parade Monday evening. Responses from several townships throughout the county indicated large delegations of marchers participating in the procession which will be known as the "No Third Term" parade.

Drafttees Can Be Kept in Service

Five Years if 'Emergency' Arises

For obvious political reasons, the Roosevelt administration is soft-pedaling the real nature of the draft for which numbers have just been drawn.

Out of Washington have come soothing assurances, from half a dozen New Deal officials including the President and his draft director, Dr. Clarence Dykstra.

The tune and the tone are the same in each case. The words run something like this:

"Don't be alarmed, little draftee. Uncle Sam is not going to hurt you; your chance of being called for military service is only one in twenty almost any old excuse will give you deferred status and, if through the mischance of a lottery you are called for military 'training' it is only for a year and you never really will be asked to face bullets, shells or bombs."

All of which, of course, is a fraud, a deliberate effort to deceive—until after the election.

Let the prospective draftee consider these facts:

Congress voted a limitation on the number to be drafted but Congress gave ample evidence that this limit was imposed only for electioneering purposes. Congress as evidenced by speeches and votes, was afraid to adopt an

HENRY WALLACE SABOTAGED 1932 PLEDGES OF FDR

—GEORGE N. PEEL

Farm Leader-Industrialist Says New Deal Has Failed Farmer

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—George N. Peel, farm leader and industrialist, asserted today that it was Henry Wallace, "more than anyone else who sabotaged President Roosevelt's 1932 pledges to agriculture and thereby destroyed any hope of attaining the objectives which the McNary-Haugen bills sought."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate, Peel told the Agricultural Club, "never favored the ideal upon which the McNary-Haugen bills were based, that of a domestic American economy independent of world economy," but favored instead "a world economy and a reduction in the American standards of living to the world level."

Peel charged, in the prepared text of his speech, that everyone of Roosevelt's promises of 1932 "went out the window in favor of a system of free trade, acreage restriction and farm regimentation, directed from Washington, of course, by an enormous, constantly-increasing and highly-paid federal bureaucracy."

Got Hull's Trade Pact

"Instead of tariff protection of the home market as Mr. Roosevelt promised, they (the farmers) got Mr. Hull's trade agreement program which has at last cast off its camouflage and is admitted by Mr. Hull to be a general tariff re-

Joe Louis Boomed; Acts Like Champ

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, was boomed at a Republican political rally in the heart of Harlem last night, but he took it like a champ.

"You boys," said the imperturbable Brown Bomber, "can boo 'til you get blue in the face... but I'll keep on talking."

Looking down at his hecklers, he declared, "I'm used to boos—and I win anyway."

This brought a wave of cheers. He was up there to urge the election of Wendell L. Willkie. Police estimated 3,500 to 4,000 negroes jammed into a ballroom to hear him, and that 3,000 to 4,000 waited outside.

Louis was boomed by some of his listeners when he said, "I endorse Mr. Willkie because he knows what $15 a week will do." He waited until the booing subsided.

The champ said, "You boys who are booing are boys under 21 who don't know... You don't know what your mothers went through."

"If Mr. Willkie is elected," said Louis, "he has promised in writing to put over the anti-lynching bill. Roosevelt has been in office for eight years and done nothing about that. The people in the north don't know how long is eight years."

Disguised Too Well

Columbus, O., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Hallowe'en disguise of Janice Effler, 21, was a bit too good.

Dressed as a football player, she tripped downtown last night to join the celebrating throngs.

Someone tackled her and, like many a stalwart of the gridiron, she didn't get up. Police gave her first aid.

EDITORIAL Straight Republican Ticket

Down through the years, the years during which this nation grew big and strong and prosperous and the favored nation of the whole world, the watchword of staunch Republicans has been "Vote Straight Republican." But never in all the history of America has there been a time when straight Republican ballots were as important to the cause of freedom and Americanism as they are in Tuesday's election. Put your cross in the circle over the Republican column and know you have done your share toward protecting the American way of life.

The county will go solidly Republican, without a doubt. The only local contest that the Democrats are taking even seriously is that for state's attorney, and Morey C. Pires, the Republican candidate, should be elected by a comfortable majority.

Wendell Willkie, national standard bearer for the G. O. P. and Dwight Green, head of the state ticket, offer inspiring leadership, and it is well that the Republican party had the foresight to choose leaders of such high calibre in this crisis in American history. With a too-ambitious President so thirsting for power that he would defy tradition and disregard the welfare of our beloved country to gain for himself what no other President ever had, a Third Term, and with our foreign relations so bungled, whether purposely or not, that we stand pretty much alone in a hostile world and seem surely headed for war, we now have an opportunity to regain safe and sane leadership. And not a moment too soon.

We must regain and hold tight to our old-fashioned American way of living, and we can only do it with a return to the Republican party.

Not only do we want peaceful and amicable relations with the rest of the world but prosperity here at home. The New Dealers have been trying various experiments for nearly eight years and the prospects look worse now than when they started.

If you have even a spark of patriotism in your makeup you will let nothing interfere with the casting of your ballot next Tuesday. Put your cross in the Republican circle at the top of the column and vote "Straight Republican."

VOYAGE OF CAPT. BLIGH OF MUTINY STORY ECLIPSED

Two British Seamen Safe After 70 Days at Sea in Open Boat

Nassau, the Bahamas, Nov. 1.—(AP)—After spending 70 days at sea in a tiny open boat, two British seamen have reached the safety of British soil in a voyage rivaling that of Captain William Bligh following the famous Mutiny on the Bounty.

The two men, Wilbert Roy Widdicombe, 24, and Robert George Tapscott, 19, were believed to be the only survivors of the 5,396-ton freighter Anglo-Saxon, which was sunk by a Nazi raider about 500 miles southeast of the Azores August 21.

Dropped up in bed here, the cheerful Widdicombe, who lost 80 pounds during the amazing 2,500-mile trans-Atlantic voyage, told how seven men hurriedly climbed into the 16-foot open boat when the raider opened fire.

Two of them died of machine gun wounds inflicted by the raider. Two others, crazed by heat and thirst, leaped overboard, another slashed his throat.

"When we took to the boat we had 20 pounds of biscuits, four gallons of water, 11 tins of condensed milk and 16 pounds of tinned beef," Widdicombe said.

"This lasted 15 days. Gradually the other three men started to lose their minds and one night two jumped overboard. The next day the other cut his throat."

Endless Drifting

"We just sailed and drifted endlessly. We ran into three hurricanes. We had no fishing tackle, but one salt fish and one gar fished washed into the boat and we ate them raw."

"Seaweed was our only food for most of the journey," Widdicombe continued. "Tapscott was sinking fast and we sighted a white beach and ran the boat ashore. Then we staggered and crawled to some trees and fainted."

"The next thing we realized we were surrounded by dark kindly faces but didn't know where we were until we were addressed in English to our unbounded relief."

That was at nearby Eleuthera.

Forfeited Bond Is Given to Sheriff

Sheriff Gilbert Finch is today in possession of a $1,000 government bond which was delivered to him by Circuit Clerk E. S. Rosecrans, who surrendered it today after State's Attorney Edward Jones had taken the necessary legal steps to transfer possession.

Chicago bondsmen for Ben Cohen, alias Ben Kavin, who was arrested on the date of the dedication of the Abraham Lincoln bridge and the Dixon Armory, as an alleged pickpocket, deposited the bond in justice court when Kavin was arraigned and obtained his release. After being indicted by the grand jury, the bond came into the possession of Circuit Clerk E. S. Rosecrans. In the latest action, it is now in the custody of Sheriff Finch where it is to remain for a period of 15 months, the legal time for redemption by the bondsmen Kavin failed to appear when his case was called for trial in the Circuit court, with the result of the court's order forfeiting the bond.

Hints Unwillingness

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, says Gen. Hugh Johnson, would give up emergency powers "as willingly as a hungry tiger gives up raw meat."

The incident, which Early called "regrettable" in a formal statement last night, occurred in New York's Pennsylvania station Monday night when a party of White House officials and newspapermen were attempting to board the presidential special train for Washington.

"I do not believe that I did anything wrong in this incident," Early said in making the apology. "I did not attack or kick any officer."

Turkey Will Not Enter Balkan War at Present: To Counter Axis Moves

The War Today!

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

I have received unimpeachable information that there is in France a growing anti-German unrest, accompanied by actual undercover sabotage—a condition which casts still further light on Herr Hitler's anxiety to bring that country into the Nazi fold and secure the co-operation of the general public.

One suspects that the Fuehrer is beginning to find much truth in the old Chinese adage that he who rides a tiger finds it difficult to dismount.

The Nazi chief has plowed a large portion of Europe under with his mighty war-machine without much opposition. He probably will plow more under, for it would be stupid not to recognize the terrific power which he wields.

But in every instance where he has occupied a country by force he has found that while he could break physical resistance he couldn't destroy the spirit of the nation as a whole. The situation in France is symptomatic of that existing in other parts of occupied Europe—a potential danger of vast proportions.

This can only be kept in hand by armed over-lordship, and that will be increasingly true as the conquered countries recover from the shock of assault. Hitler's "new order" is calculated to take care of that, if he can get it to functioning while bombs still fall and privation flaps about over Europe like a bloated vampire bat.

I understand that there has been a remarkable undercurrent change of sentiment in France in recent weeks. As you know, the country was utterly smashed by its terrible military defeat, and at that time there was much bitterness against the British (a flame eagerly fed by the Germans) because of a rather widespread feeling that the French had been "let down" by their ally.

That feeling has undergone much change, although there still is an anti-British party which may be said to be represented by Vice-Premier Laval who has proclaimed that he believes democracy is dead in all countries and is working overtime to swing France into the Nazi camp. Only yesterday Roy P. Porter, an Associated Press correspondent, reported in a Paris dispatch that during an interview he received the definite impression from the French leader that he earnestly desired the defeat of England.

However, there has been a widespread shift of sentiment in favor of England. This has been due mainly to the determined and successful British resistance. Germany's failure to launch the much-advertised invasion of England, and the material support which the United States has been affording Britain.

There is strong backing for General de Gaulle, the Frenchman who organized the committee of "Free Frenchmen" in London to aid England. British Premier Churchill has promised time and again that victory for England means restoration for France, and this undoubtedly has had a marked effect on the French population.

$3,700,000 Allocated For November Relief

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, in authorizing the allocation of $3,700,000 for November, predicts that the state total of home relief cases for the month will be $164,624.

The commission said it was expected that 10,500 Chicago home relief cases would be transferred to the WPA during the month. In October the state total for home relief cases was 166,180.

County allocations for November included:

Lee, none; Bureau, $2,037; Carroll, none; DeKalb, $1,249; Jo Daviess, $1,632; LaSalle, $27,627; Ogle, 1,024; Stephenson, $83,820; Whiteside, $92; Winnebago, $37,131.

Lee County's Five-Cent Corn Case Up Again

Lee county's five-cent corn case bobbed up again today when the firm of Warner & Warner filed a complaint with Lee County Circuit Clerk E. S. Rosecrans in which Wayne McCray is the plaintiff in a damage action against W. F. Holmes and Gilbert P. Finch, sheriff of Lee county. Through the sale of the 3,800 bushel of yellow corn, McCray claims to have suffered damages to the extent of $500 and asks judgment for the amount, charging that a wrongful levy was made by Sheriff Finch while acting under the direction of W. F. Holmes.

The case gained wide publicity when Deputy Sheriff L. E. Bates sold the crop of corn on the John Eggers farm south of Compton at a sheriff's sale to Holmes who bid five cents a bushel for the 3,800 bushels of picked yellow corn. Considerable litigation followed in the local courts which developed around the ownership of the crop after the corn was shelled and sold at an elevator.

Italians Claim 35-Mile Advance in North Greece

By The Associated Press

Turkey will not enter the Balkan war now, President Ismet Inonu announced today, at the same time countering any threat of Rome-Berlin axis plans by proclaiming that Turko-Russian relations "now have taken a friendly turn."

On the Balkan war front, Stefani, the official Italian news agency, reported a 35-mile Fascist advance into the Ioannina sector of northwest Greece, along with the capture of 79 Grecian villages.

Turkey's president, in a speech to the national assembly at Ankara, said Turkey and her ally, Great Britain, "are studying the situation in the Balkans."

The nation's relations with Soviet Russia, he said, had "gone through a critical period," but now are much improved.

Has Kept Hands Off

With her reported "2,000,000 bayonets," Turkey has openly defied any axis attempt to use Turkey as a passageway to the Near East, but has maintained a hands-off policy under pressure from Russia.

The new "friendly turn" in soviet-Turkish relations might indicate that Russia has guaranteed support to Turkey in the event of an axis attack on Turkey—in return for Turkey keeping out of the Greek-Italian war.

Stefani's report of a 35-mile Italian thrust—which would indicate that the city of Ioannina (Jannina) now is under fascist siege or that Mussolini's invaders are not advancing on the shortest line from the Albanian frontier—confronted with official Greek reports.

The Greek high command declared that tank-supported Italian troops in northwest Greece had been "repulsed everywhere" in the five-day Albanian conflict.

R. A. F. Attacks Italy

British R. A. F. bombers attacked southern Italy for the first time, bombing the ancient Tyrrhenian seaport of Naples near the "ankle" of the Italian boot.

The Naples attack, striking at oil tanks and other military objectives in the Naples area where great blast furnaces and steel mills are situated, followed a rising clamor in the British press for stronger blows against Italy.

"Italy is the weakest link in the axis," said the London News Chronicle. "Smash it, and more than half the battle is won."

Similarly, Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express declared:

"Living women and children matter more to us than the antiquities of Rome. If bombing Rome is to mean an earlier victory for the Greeks and ourselves, we should begin it tomorrow and continue it until the Italians see sense."

Premier Mussolini's high command said the raid on Naples cost one killed, five wounded.

Belgrade dispatches said the Italians were hammering at Greek positions in Piosidera pass, at the northeast end of the Albanian frontier.

Smoke Screen

CHAPTER 20

Hang Yourself, Brave Crillon

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
Copyright, 1940, by Samuel B. Pettengill

"We have lived in an age so debauched from all humanity and reason that some stick not to turn butchers to their own privileges and conspirators against their own liberties," said William Penn in 1670 when on trial for speaking in London streets without permission.

"Conspirators against their own liberties!" Experience is a dear school but fools learn in no other, as Poor Richard says. The worst smoke screen of all is the one that blinds the eyes of those who started it.

I know the excuse these political sophomores give themselves. They say: We will concentrate not only political but economic power in Washington, (or Berlin, or Rome, or Moscow). But we will retain all our civil rights!

These pundits may mean well, perhaps, but they haven't read history. Apparently they don't even read the newspapers!

What civil rights did anybody have in Louisiana under the reign of Huey P. Long, our first dictator. And what rights has anyone in Italy, Russia, Germany? Men are green in judgment when they suppose that supreme power will permit itself to be challenged by opposition parties, that it will permit its sweet perquisites to be whittled away by free speech, free press, free elections, labor organizations, even by pastor or priest.

Bertrand Russell is a socialist. But he is apparently intellectually honest. In his last book "Power," he confesses his dilemma. He advocates "State ownership of land and capital." But he knows "how rash it is to expect irresponsible power to be benevolent." He sees the inevitable danger that those who seek liberation from economic tyranny will find that "they have inadvertently established a new tyranny at once economic and political, more drastic and more terrible than any previously known."

And so he is troubled. He hopes that with the government owning all capital—for example, the newspapers—it would still be so kind as to permit the opposition to have one page to attack it! He should submit this to Adolph, Josef and Co.!

Of course, if Bertrand Russell and his comrades of the "Intelligentsia" were to solve the knotty problems of chaining two tigers (economic and political power combined) when they find difficulty in chaining one separately, we would still disagree as to their main theme—State ownership as in Russia, or State management as in Germany. Free men do more and better work than slaves. Logic says so, and the records prove it. The hope of reward as a greater stimulus to individual effort has not since Jefferson's day been a mere theory. America is the proof.

The Constitution and New Deal Socialism cannot permanently co-exist on American soil. The friends of our form of government in both great parties must halt this onward march toward a Nazi America, or by a creeping paralysis concealed from the patient it will result in the death of the Republic.

Many of my friends think this moral rot has gone so deep in the body politic that it is beyond healing. If so, the republic is doomed and fascism will soon be out of fate, with communism our remoter legacy to posterity. Benjamin Franklin once said that our government "can only end in despotism as other forms have done before it when people have become so corrupted as to need despotic government, being incapable of any other."

I have not lost faith that the heart of this great people is still sound. I believe they love their children as our fathers loved us. I know that 64,000,000 of them over forty per cent more than ever voted for presidential candidates of all parties, in life insurance policies alone, have a stake in the survival of private enterprise. I believe that events abroad and at home are causing a world-wide moral revulsion. I believe that a spiritual renaissance is not far off. I believe the day is not yet lost when the American people will rally by the tens of millions around some leader with the unyielding granite of a Grover Cleveland, inflexible in his defense of "this last best hope of earth."

Such is my creed. And I am happier fighting for it than I could possibly be in conceding the field as lost.

"For how can men die better, Than facing fearful odds, For the ashes of their fathers, And the temples of their gods?" And you, who read these lines, will be said of you with deep rebuke, "Hang yourself, brave Crillon, we fought at Argues and you were not there?" I will answer that. I believe you are going to get into the fight.

Draft Gives President Too Much Power Norman Thomas Tells Teachers

Milwaukee, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, told the Milwaukee State Teachers College students and faculty here that the draft "gave the president powers that no angel from heaven should have."

"We have a quasi-dictatorship, with too much power invested in the president," Thomas asserted. "x x x There are not 10 responsible men in Washington who believe we need conscription. The administration deliberately tried to stampede us into hysteria so they could exploit the hysteria. x x x"

"The president unconsciously is being driven into this imperialist war by a sort of messianic complex. He is seeking an escape from his failures at home. If he can't solve our own problems he wants to solve the world's problems."

The famous Butterfield stage route of frontier days extended 2,759 miles from San Francisco to St. Louis by way of Los Angeles, Yuma and Tucson, Ariz., and El Paso, Tex. The trip was made in 23 days.

The Red Cross reports a 65 per cent increase in students taking first aid courses in the past two years.

If ever this country needed a man like Willkie it is now—Vote for him Nov. 5 if you are a real American.

Great Campaign By CARLISLE BARGERON

New York.—Back in 1933 there was another great crusade in this country. Although it was confined to New York City it was national in its implications.

A group of patriotic citizens disregarded party ties and organized the famous Fusion movement which elected Fiorello LaGuardia mayor and reelected him in 1937. The House of LaGuardia was established. The Little Flower became known far and wide as an honest and energetic public servant.

Then, notwithstanding Roosevelt had opposed him in '33, the Little Flower could not resist the generous helpings of public money available in Washington. He joined up with the New Deal. The business of spending billions to perpetuate the gangster political machines in some of our larger cities, apparently fascinated him.

Now, Fiorello's House has come tumbling down. Those non-partisan men and women who set it up, have stepped out from under him. They won't go along with the Third Term racket.

Those who have announced their bolt from the Little Flower's cause and their support of Willkie comprise the very backbone of the famous Fusion movement men and women who have at one time or another served in the Mayor's government. Some of them are still serving him.

Inasmuch as the future of millions of Americans may turn on the outcome of the campaign in New York State, this would seem to be most important. You might say that the Willkie crusade has broken through the enemy lines at one of its most highly fortified points.

What seems to be happening in this country is well exemplified in the organization in the Middle West of thousands of non-political business and professional men. They have become impatient over what they consider to be the slowness of the regular campaign committees to swing into action. Maybe their criticism is justified; maybe not. Their attitude, however, reflects an anxiety—one of the phenomena of this campaign.

In view of the shape the New Deal campaign has taken, the issue is pretty clear. A VOTE FOR ROOSEVELT IS A VOTE FOR WAR.

In 1918, Woodrow Wilson, at a time when American troops were on the advance in France, asked for a Democratic congress as a vote of confidence. He got a Republican house and a Republican senate. And the American people showed what they thought about our European adventure in 1920—and HOW!

This war the New Deal promises us is bad enough. Under Ickes the Ick, Tommy the Cork, Harry the Hop, Madame Perkins et al, it would be TERRIBLE.

Ford Features Softer Ride in 1941 Models

FORD ENGINEERS are pointing with pride to the amount of added safety built into the latest Ford V-8's, now being shown. The same big 12-inch hydraulic brakes with 162 square inches area are continued to insure easy, quick stopping with long service. There is unusual riding comfort in the new Fords. This is provided by a number of features, many of them never included before in cars of this price class. Improvement of the ride is built around a new 100% stiffer frame, includes more sensitive shock absorbers to match the new softer transverse springs, a new design of stabilizer and special alloy steel for the springs. There is also the new cushion structure—individually pocketed luxury type cushion springs with rubberized top pad to add to passenger comfort. This Super Deluxe Fordor Sedan is one of the several body types available in the 1941 DeLuxe and Super DeLuxe Fords.

Roosevelt Has Laid Basis for Entry of U. S. Into War in Black and White

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington.—When the United States enters the world war—assuming the reelection of President Roosevelt—the American people will not be able to argue with surprise that Roosevelt has violated a campaign pledge. He has already laid the basis in black and white for a justification of his action.

Just the other day when seeking to justify his entry into the "purely political" aspect of the third-term campaign, Mr. Roosevelt went back to his acceptance speech of last July and found therein a phrase or two about his promise to answer "falsifications." So, too, the president has built up a record of words which not only can make it seem to him consistent to lead America into the war but to do so without asking the consent of Congress. Here is that record:

The Democratic national platform pledge adopted last July and repeated word for word in the president's speech at Philadelphia last week says: "We will not participate in foreign wars and we will not send our army, naval or aerial forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas except in case of attack."

Stated affirmatively, this pledge declares that "in case of attack," Roosevelt would send our army, naval or aerial forces "to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas," which, if one looks at the map, can only mean European, Asiatic and African territory.

What is Meaning?

What then is meant by the words "except in case of attack"? Here is a phrase that may prove of historic consequence. The definition given by Mr. Roosevelt himself on May 16th last in a formal message to both houses of Congress offers a simple explanation. Here are the president's own words:

"A defense which allows an enemy to consolidate his approach without hindrance will lose. A defense which makes no effective effort to destroy the lines of supplies and communications of the enemy will lose."

"An effective defense by its very nature requires the equipment to attack an aggressor on his route before he can establish strong bases within the territory of American vital interests."

Applying the foregoing definition as readiness "to attack an aggressor on his route," the president can interpret at any moment the moves of Hitler in West Africa or in the Martinique region or in the vicinity of any South American country as "attack" and insist that the United States Navy and air forces must go overseas to the English Channel to attack the enemy's "lines of supplies and communications." He can construe a Japanese move in the Dutch East Indies as an "attack" on our vital interests.

Under the Constitution, few people realize that the president as commander-in-chief has the power without consulting congress to use the armed forces of the United States to "repel invasion." Attorney General Jackson would not be hard put to it to find legal justification for "invasion" in the very language of the president's message to congress of May 16th about attacking "an aggressor on his route."

Fathers Felt Wisely

Our forefathers wisely felt that the power "to repel invasion" should be given without need of summoning congress because in an emergency such power might really have to be employed instantly but the American people have never before been confronted with such a definition of invasion or attack as was proclaimed in the May 16th speech nor have they ever before seen the chief executive of the government of the United States actually in the middle of a war transfer war vessels to a belligerent government without asking either before or afterward the ratification by both houses of congress.

The millions of voters who say they are going to disregard the third-term issue because they believe the "foreign situation" is more important will be assuming the responsibility on November 5th to their fellow-citizens for American entrance into the war if Mr. Roosevelt is elected and he subsequently interprets "attack" as he did on May 16th. Citizens will not be able to argue persuasively that they were deceived by a pledge of peace.

The election next week becomes, therefore, a solemn referendum. A vote for Mr. Roosevelt is a vote to give him a free hand to go to war whenever he wants to construe action overseas as an attack on "American vital interests." These "interests" incidentally are as wide as the two oceans and the president in his May 16th speech said: "Our own vital interests are widespread."

Willkie Makes Pledge

A vote for Mr. Willkie means a vote for a man who has pledged himself to take no step without consulting both houses of congress. Even the destroyer trade for bases which was discussed for many weeks could have been submitted to congress or its committees, according to Mr. Willkie's view.

The contrast, therefore, is between Mr. Willkie's caution and desire to consult the people's elected representatives and Mr. Roosevelt's belief in the infallibility of his own judgment and in the superfluity of congress.

If Mr. Roosevelt is reelected for a third term, he will be justified in believing he has a free hand to determine the exact moment at which America shall enter the war.

It is unthinkable to contend that the president wants war as such because he himself has said he loves it but it is another thing for a man to be convinced that it is better for America "to attack the aggressor on his route." Many folks in the New Deal think our entry into the war would be largely naval and aerial anyway and that the casualties would be relatively small. Many New Dealers also feel though not urging war—that war powers would be a lucky break for the maintenance of their concept of "social gains" because, under war powers, capital and management can be conscripted more readily than in peace time under threat of war.

War, therefore, isn't looked upon by the New Dealers as such a terrible thing. The mothers and fathers and families of the boys who may be sent to Latin America, or to European and Asiatic bases "to attack the aggressor on his route" will certainly have no right to blame Mr. Roosevelt, for he warned them already in black and white of his own interpretation of "attack."

Citing a recent decision by the U. S. circuit court of appeals which upheld the Ford company's right to distribute anti-union pamphlets to its employees, Judge Neuenfelt said the corresponding rights of the union must be upheld also.

Orabi, in northern Arizona, occupies the same site as when Spaniards first came to the southwest in 1540, and is considered the oldest continuously inhabited town in the United States.

Willkie Asserts Too Much Power Leads to Strife

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie told a cheering crowd here that when "absolute power comes to any man he becomes corrupted and leads the people down the road to war."

The Republican presidential nominee, in a brief speech outside the war memorial building said, "you can see with your own eyes what the indispensable man have done to the people of Europe."

"The question in this campaign," Willkie said, "is whether the free way of life and government shall continue. In Europe you see the indispensable men. All three of them obtained their power first by peaceable means, convincing the people they loved them and wanted to do only good."

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to well and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and edified while its tools and dupes usurp the places and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Mr. Roosevelt's Unpreparedness

Back in 1939 Mr. Roosevelt told Congress that no responsible officer of the government would advocate developing our air forces to match those of certain other nations. That was only a few months before Germany invaded Poland. At that time the United States army was equipped just about as well as the army of Poland, and we believe, inferior in number of active personnel and trained reserves.

In 1935 Mr. Roosevelt had congressional authority to increase the army air corps to 1650 officers. He actually had 1307, and reduced the number to 1226.

In 1936 (Ethiopia and the Spanish war) Mr. Roosevelt was authorized by Congress to call out 1550 reserve pilots for the army. But he didn't. Instead, he reduced the officer personnel of the air corps.

In 1937 (Hitler demands and the Jap-China war) Mr. Roosevelt permitted the army air corps to remain at 77 per cent of authorized and financed total.

In 1938 (Austria and Czechoslovakia) Congress authorized an increase in army air corps officers to 2029. Instead of doing that, Mr. Roosevelt permitted the force to remain at 62 per cent of the authorized and financed total.

And he started 1939 by saying no responsible officer would recommend an increase in our air forces to match those of Germany, Italy and Japan.

Mr. Roosevelt can not say that Republican congressmen denied him the authority to build up our air force. We have cited funds appropriated and authority granted.

SERIAL STORY

NEW YORK JUNGLE

BY WRAY WADE SEVERN

COPYRIGHT 1940, MEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Barkes is trapped, hiding a package in a tree. He explains to PLOWMAN that he has been innocently involved trying to save his dog, trying to keep Langdon from discovering it. Then after the murder, he had to get rid of the dog. In an attempt to smuggle the dog out of the house, he gave it too much chloroform, killed it. It was he, whom Brantwood trailed down the passage into the jungle. PLOWMAN questions him about $500 Langdon had at the time of the murder.

PLOWMAN MAKES AN ARREST

CHAPTER XXII

FOR a moment Barkes was silent. Then he faced PLOWMAN furiously.

"You can't railroad me, PLOWMAN," he shouted. "Mr. Langdon knew I had that money. He gave it to me. I cashed the check for him at the bank. The teller telephoned him to make sure it was all right. You can ask him."

"Mr. Langdon had told me to take the midnight train to the city. I was to see his doctor and get a special prescription. It was to be ready for me. I wondered about taking that much money, just for medicine. Mr. Langdon said it was a remedy for jungle fever, that it was very costly. He told me not to tell anyone that I was going on the errand."

"Why didn't you tell us this before?" PLOWMAN shot back. "I was afraid to. I didn't think you'd believe me. All that money for medicine. I intended to return the money to Mrs. Langdon."

"All right, all right. Come along, Barkes," he motioned to a trooper to take the chauffeur away.

"ANY new evidence?" Sidney turned back to Captain PLOWMAN.

"Plenty," the officer replied. "We found the money, hidden in the garage. Found a gun, too, but it had been cleaned. Then this friend, whom Barkes claims to have talked to in town, this fellow Brabant, has a record. He has a green sedan, too."

"Brabant may have been just a casual acquaintance," Sidney argued. "There are hundreds of green sedans. Barkes didn't recognize the driver. He wouldn't offer Brabant as an alibi if he knew he was in the village."

PLOWMAN ignored his arguments. "The way I see it, Mr. Brantwood, is that Barkes cashed the check, all right, brought the money here, gave it to Langdon, then stole it again and hid it in the jungle. Suppose he had a confederate in the jungle. Say the valet. The bad blood between them may have been faked. The confederate puts out the light so that Barkes could escape through the chimney, while the entire company think they have been locked in from the outside, so that the thief could loot upstairs."

"I don't agree, but it could be true," Sidney commented.

"You all saw Barkes drive off and he had a witness who had seen him in the village. He admits he came back. He says, he drove to the village. It couldn't have been after."

"Suppose he did get back before you came downstairs for coffee instead of after. It needs no stretch of the imagination to figure that he was in the jungle with the plan to go up through the flue into Langdon's room for the pearls when you all came in, so he hid. He could get up through the flue without anyone hearing him. But when you surprised him by coming down for coffee so soon, he was in a jam."

"You are making out a case, PLOWMAN, but I still don't agree." "Wait until I have finished," PLOWMAN half smiled. "Barkes short-circuited the lights in the smaller room while Togi turned them off in the larger room. Togi locked the door. When Togi was on the ladder he saw Barkes hiding and they signaled each other. In the darkness Barkes was to make the flue."

"Then came the lightning. Langdon saw Barkes sneaking toward the passage, he aimed, but Barkes shot first. In the thunder that followed, no one heard him. He was frightened by what he had done and gave up going after the pearls, especially as he knew you men were on the way upstairs. He went out the drawing room window. That accounts for there being no wet prints on the parlor carpet. He was leaving, not entering."

"Well reasoned, if you can prove it," Sidney admitted. "Maybe I can and maybe now I can't, Mr. Brantwood," PLOWMAN said, in a tone that left Sidney in doubt.

THE clock in the hall had emitted a solitary tinkle when Sidney knocked on Patricia Langdon's bedroom door.

"Sorry to disturb you at such an ungodly hour, Mrs. Langdon," the lawyer said, with a touch of weariness, "but PLOWMAN has just made an arrest and I thought you'd want to know it."

"An arrest?" Pat gasped. "He can't have fastened the murder on Craig?"

too-great ambition will be brought about, however, ONLY if those opposed to them go to the polls and vote.

Indications are that it will be a close election in popular vote. If 10 per cent of the Republican voters stay at home, Mr. Roosevelt can win by an overwhelming landslide of electoral votes. One thousand Illinois Republicans, staying at home, can change this state's 29 electoral votes from Willkie to Roosevelt; or, by going to the polls, they can make sure that NO POLITICAL MACHINE, organized at Washington and branching to Chicago, can BUY an election by means of organizing the payrollers and padding the WPA rolls at the last minute.

Time was when a goodly number of Republicans remained at home on the theory that "one vote won't make any difference."

One vote does sound rather weak, but if 10,000 Republicans say that, 10,000 votes may mean four more years of the New Deal, national bankruptcy, dictatorship and most probably war.

The vote of every Republican in every honest precinct is needed to overcome the ballots that will be stolen in Chicago all day on November 5 by the Kelly-Nash hangers-on.

Lucas on Kelly-Nash

Scott Lucas, Democratic senator from Illinois, is not running for office this year. What he says about the Kelly-Nash machine, therefore, must not be biased. Mr. Lucas, when he made the statements quoted herewith, was unwittingly assisting the campaign of Wayland Brooks.

"The Kelly-Nash machine," said Mr. Lucas, "has its hidden hand in your pocketbook every minute of the day."

And once more: "It takes money to operate the Kelly-Nash machine with its army of satellites, fixers, insiders, parasite cogs to make the machine function."

Louie Louis also helps Mr. Brooks with a few words about Kelly-Nash.

To quote him: "I have seen Mayor Kelly and Pat Nash sit in the House (of Representatives) and looking their payroll representatives in the eye, force them to vote for bad measures and against good ones. I have seen Kelly and Nash sit near the President's chair in the (state) Senate and do the same thing with their paid hirelings."

"I viewed the same disgraceful spectacle, for I was a member of the House at the time." The statements of Lucas and Louis, quoted here, were made in 1938, when it paid politically to look with distaste upon Chicago's graft and corruption in order to get office.

Now that the graft and corruption have grown so strong that no Chicago election can be carried by a Democrat without the help of Kelly and Nash, do we hear anybody on the New Deal ticket opposing them?

Voters will do well to remember that the Kelly-Nash machine, so roundly condemned by Lucas and Louis, is now in favor of the third term for Roosevelt, and opposed to the election of Willkie, Brooks and Green.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Oct. 31.—No wonder the polls have been hedging by keeping the election outcome somewhat doubtful. The unprecedented number of unpredictable favors involved has confused many leaders in both camps who, unlike their followers, do not permit their hopes to rule their judgment.

Workings of Tammany Hall in vital New York are, for a prime instance, unfathomable even to those in that gang. It can be said definitely the only orders that had been passed down by the middle of the week urged the workers to go for the state ticket. Not a word was said about FDR. While the leader, Christy Flannigan, sat on the Madison Square Garden platform for Roosevelt's speech, it is rather well understood within the outfit that the leaders are against the third term. They hold that they have been unable to appease the president, so there can be no benefit in helping him.

The regulars in the Bronx and Brooklyn seem to be working double time in the White House interests, but their activity is not matched by all Democratic state organizations out in the country.

A Democratic chieftain has said that Roosevelt will win by a landslide if he can get everyone who is supposed to be for him to vote for him on election day.

That "it" gets bigger the deeper you pry into the prospects. An intimate loyal newspaper friend of a certain Democratic senator from the west who has made a statement for Roosevelt is authority for a warning that the senator will vote the other way when the curtain is closed. If you want to guess his identity, eliminate Senator Burke of Nebraska for he is not the man.

A great imponderable also is the voting effect of the John Lewis break from Roosevelt. Those who have looked over the favorable telegrams Lewis has received have been impressed, although these are not all from labor leaders. Lewis himself is very well pleased. Since last Friday he refers to the New Deal as "the opposition." He is proud of his speech, says it had "impact."

Few New Dealers measured the effect of the Kennedy speech in tons of ballots. The other stumped ambassadors were careful to avoid the mistake of making definite commitments to Roosevelt by name. Also the ambassador to London came in late to the campaign show and strongly asserted that the only crisis in which the United States is involved is a crisis of production—the necessity of arming in time. He founded his whole argument on that assumption. What troubled the New Dealers is the fact that the Republicans have received the same assumption as their primary reason for electing a business man.

Draft headquarters naturally has kept quiet about it, but a large volume of letters was received before the draft drawing from mothers of sons within the age limits, setting forth political arguments against the president. Many a Democratic authority has the feeling that the president switched far from too late a war-crisis campaign motif which was used at the outset to justify the third term, Willkie's rise they attribute mainly to that issue. Whether the new peace motif will be effective in rallying such votes back before Tuesday cannot be answered before then.

A heavy majority of political newsmen around town still thinks Roosevelt will win. In a whisper pool at the state department press room, Roosevelt's expected electoral vote averaged 376. On the other hand private business services here are this year, for the first time in their history, frankly advising their clients the outcome cannot be guessed with any reasonable degree of assurance.

All these incalculables sift down to the probability that the election may go to the side most efficiently organized to get its voters to the polls and voted on election day. Republicans, for the first time in twelve years have youthful and enthused groups of legmen and women to see that their full vote is cast. Democratic campaign emphasis, however, has largely leaned on grand strategy rather than ringing doorbells.

New York City's Mayor Faces Suit for Assault

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia was served today with a summons and complaint in a $350,000 suit brought in behalf of Benjamin H. Owens, whose necktie the mayor pulled in Detroit October 21 while there for a campaign rally.

Owens, a fare box inspector, of Ferndale, Mich., was in the crowd before the Detroit city hall where LaGuardia was speaking in behalf of President Roosevelt in his capacity as chairman of the National Independent Voters League.

The mayor became irked at a question put to him by Owens, seized him and twisted his necktie.

Owens asked "Did Boss Flynn send you here?" (Edward J. Flynn is chairman of the Democratic national committee and Democratic leader of Bronx county, New York City.)

Deaths

Suburban—

ORVILLE BRINKLEY (Telegraph Special Service) Polo, Nov. 1.—Orville Brinkley, who lived a mile east of Haldane, died at his home between 12:30 and 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, death resulting from a gunshot wound, self inflicted, through the heart. Tear Gas Breaks Up Republican Meeting

Springfield, Mo., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Phil A. Bennett, Republican nominee for representative in congress, said a tear gas bomb was tossed into a crowd of 650 persons in a store building at Pleasant Hill last night, breaking up a rally at which Bennett was the speaker.

"I had finished my speech and was showing a movie produced by the Republican national committee when someone threw the bomb," Bennett said.

"It must have landed near me because it almost put my eyes out. Naturally the crowd scattered. But it was so dense that we couldn't find out who threw the bomb."

"In order to defend ourselves we must make ourselves strong. We must have not only a strong

Army and a strong Navy, but we must have a strong industry.

"The first and foremost job of my Administration would be to speed up our defenses, and to organize industry and our resources to accomplish complete preparedness in the shortest possible period of time. We shall then be strong and united—ready and able and willing to protect ourselves against the dictators."

Storks Carry Messages of Privations of Dutch

Johannesburg, South Africa, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Boer farmers in this vicinity report that some of the storks arriving here in their annual 7,000-mile migration from the Netherlands are carrying written messages of the condition of the Dutch under Nazi rule.

One farmer said he untied this scribbled message from the leg of a migrating stork:

"We inhabitants of Bergen-Op-Zoom tell you German occupation is just hell!"

Another said, "The Dutch people are dying under injustice." (The Boers, still speaking Dutch dialects, came to South Africa from Holland more than a century ago and were absorbed into South Africa, now a British dominion, and only after the bitter Boer war at the turn of the century. Many of them still oppose South Africa's participation in the war against Germany.)

Mount Morris—Alert after attending several inspirational conferences since their October meeting, members of the Mount Morris Woman's club will meet in the Methodist church parlors for their November session next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Besides hearing interesting reports on both the regional conference held at Freeport on October 18 and the county conference held at Mount Morris October 29, there is to be an address on "Facing Facts" to be given by Mrs. Glenn Craddock of Morrison, who is thirteenth district chairman of the international relations department. Active in women's club work for a number of years, Mrs. Craddock is well versed on this particular subject. She will be introduced by Miss Edna Coulson, chairman of the international relations department of the local club.

During the business session the new constitution and by-laws which were read at the October meeting will be voted upon so it is urged that all members be present to voice their opinions on the changes suggested. Mrs. G. S. Powers, will be at the church at 7 P. M. to accommodate any who may wish to pay their dues and receive their yearbooks before the meeting starts.

Fall Conference

It was an enthusiastic group of eighty women from the clubs throughout Ogle county who gathered for the annual fall conference of the Ogle County Federation of Women's clubs which was held in the Mount Morris Methodist church from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. Tuesday. Here they had the opportunity to compare notes with fellow club women, listen to refreshing musical numbers, and hear several inspirational addresses, challenging them to return to their own homes and clubs with renewed interests and new vitality.

The day's session opened with the song, "God Bless America", after which the entire group repeated the "Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag," led by Mrs. H. K. Marcott, Mount Morris. Following the invocation by Rev. William L. Manny, pastor of the local Methodist church, Mrs. Carroll Boston, president of the Mount Morris Woman's club, gave the address of welcome to which Mrs. C. D. Rowland, Ogle county Federation president responded. During the brief business session it was announced that the junior women's clubs throughout the county will sponsor Christmas parties for underprivileged children in their respective communities. Looking ahead to next spring's conference, it is planned that each club shall organize a chorus and these will sing together as a combined unit at the April meeting.

After the roll call of club presidents, three visitors from the Stephenson county federation were introduced. All members of the Freeport Woman's club, the guests were Mrs. Roy A. Sanders, president of the Freeport organization; Mrs. Clarence Klipping, thirteenth district American Home chairman, and Mrs. William Zeiders, thirteenth district law observance chairman. Both Mrs. Klipping and Mrs. Zeiders brought the greetings of their respective departments of work.

Miss Elizabeth Peek, Oregon, Ogle county chairman of the Red Cross organization, and Mrs. Frank Gantz, Oregon, both spoke briefly in an appeal that the women cooperate in helping to supply needs in our own federal hospitals, especially such articles as bed jackets, lap covers, sweaters, shoulderettes, cushions, etc. emphasizing that these should not be overlooked in the face of other plans.

Arnold Thomas, local high school music instructor, sang several numbers, accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Thomas at the piano, to provide the morning's musical interlude. At 11:30 A. M. Miss Margaret Scrivens, Dixon librarian, presented the names of ten books which she feels are well worth reading, five of which are new books but the other five have been on library shelves for a number of years.

In the first group, she believes that Harold Lashy's "The American Presidency," and Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bells Toll," are the only two which will be long-lived insofar as popularity is concerned. She considers the latter book the best that has been written by any author in the last ten years. The other three new books she recommends for this winter's reading are "Mrs. Miniver" by Jan Struther, "How Green Was My Valley" by Richard Llewellyn, and "I Married Adventure" by Osa Johnson.

For her group of five older books which have survived the test of time she selected "My Antonia" by Willa Cather; "Of Human Bondage" by Somerset Maugham; "Farewell to Arms" by Ernest Hemingway; "South Wind" by Norman Douglas, and "The Magic Mountain".

Luncheon was served during the noon hour at the Masonic hall. At 1 P. M. Miss Helen Miller local grade school music instructor, sang several contralto solos, accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Thomas, and then Mrs. Hugh Allen, Pine Creek, president of the thirteenth district, brought the greetings of her district to the Ogle county unit.

The keynote of the address, "Glorify the American Home", given by Mrs. E. C. Holmquist, Galesburg, who is the state chairman of the American Home department, was that it is up to the women of today to study to show themselves capable of providing the type of homes for their families which will serve as a firm foundation on which the strength of our nation depends.

The three-point program of the American Home department emphasizes consumer education, family relations and religious teachings, so the three points which Mrs. Holmquist chose to stress in her talk were the importance of self confidence, a cheerful disposition, and faith as desirable characteristics in the women who manage the homes.

If a woman is familiar with the most desirable products on the market, then when she purchases them she will be confident that she is providing the best for herself and her family. It was with this end in mind that the Women's Clubs were instrumental in getting the law passed requiring that all materials be labeled properly.

A cheerful disposition, according to Mrs. Holmquist, is a valuable asset in maintaining pleasant family relations and may be abetted by interests in music, literature, and art. She maintained that if a woman radiates her faith in God and in her country to those with whom she comes in contact, that such action is our nation's best national defense program. Quoting Dorothy Thompson wife of Sinclair Lewis and well-known contemporary columnist, she cited that it is the club women who are laying the stones on which to step. She also quoted from Andre Maurois, "The Art of Living."

An ensemble of youthful trumpeters from Leaf River high school provided the music before the final portion of the day's program. The question box was conducted by Mrs. O. H. Rahn Chadwick, past district president, who opened her portion of the conference by reading the preamble to the constitution of the United States. Earlier in the day she had distributed numerous questions among the audience, asking that they give brief remarks on how the particular department about which she inquired tied-in with the provisions of this preamble.

All the women who participated were able to point out that the various departments of work which are subdivisions in the organization are all important and do have their respective places. Those who supplied the answers to Mrs. Rahn's inquiries were Mrs. A. E. Spring, Leaf River, on Park Ridge School for Girls; Mrs. C. R. Schreiber, Leaf River, on Public Welfare; Mrs. A. N. Beebe, Stillman Valley, on legislation and radio; Mrs. George Strickler, Polo, on law observance; Mrs. H. R. Humm, Byron, on Indian Welfare; Mrs. Ralph Cocking, Pine Rock, civil service; Mrs. E. C. Helmquist, Galesburg, on domestic tranquility; Mrs. Clarence Klipping, Freeport, knowledge of pure food laws; Mrs. D. A. Stenmark, Polo, art; Mrs. Merrill Keller, Mount Morris, and Miss Margaret Dennis, Polo, what the federation has done for the juniors and activities they are planning for themselves; Mrs. Glenn Andrews, Oregon, garden; Mrs. Harold Marcott, Mount Morris, American Citizenship and common defense; Mrs. Robert Allen, Mount Morris, public health and hygiene; Mrs. E. J. Tilton, Ashton, press and publicity, and Mrs. Joe Rae, Polo, literature.

"America" was used as the song to close the day's activities. Included among the twenty members of the Mount Morris Woman's Club who were present for the conference were all but one of the officers of the organization.

The next county conference will be on April 15 at Byron. Mrs. Frank Myers and Mrs. Frank Kimmel of Lanark were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dougherty on Friday.

Misses Lois Myers and Margaret Brinker were hosts to the seventh grade girls at a masquerade Halloween party on Thursday evening at the home of Miss Lois Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zastrow and daughter Jean spent the week end with Dr. J. H. Ritson.

Mrs. Elva Buser entertained the members of the Thimble club at her home on Wednesday evening.

The district organization meeting of the Methodist Woman's society of Christian service was held in the Court Street Methodist church on Wednesday, Oct. 30. Sixteen ladies of the Mt. Morris Methodist church attended. Mrs. Fred Steffen of Mt. Morris was elected recording secretary.

Mrs. Joseph Miller and son Vernon spent Sunday at the O. C. A. Long home in Haldane.

The H. H. B. club was entertained on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carl Withers.

State Candidates Intensify Drives to Garner Votes

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Illinois candidates intensified their drive for votes today as they neared the end of the long campaign trail.

The aspirants for state-wide offices issued statements, spoke by radio, and hurried from one political rally to another to get their message to the men and women who check the ballots next Tuesday.

U. S. Senator James M. Slattery, campaigning for re-election on the Democratic ticket, asserted last night at south side rallies that the nation's defense program should be above partisan politics.

"Unfortunately," the senator said in his prepared speech, "the Republican candidate for U. S. senator (Wayland Brooks) is asking the voters to send him to Washington so that he immediately may begin his attack on the selective service law."

Brooks also addressed a series of south side meetings urging the election of Wendell Willkie and charging that the third term was a menace to the nation. He also renewed his criticism of the Roosevelt administration for what he termed the inadequacy of defense preparations.

Brooks boasts Willkie "We have spent 60 billion dollars in the last 7½ years, and we are still unprepared," he said. "We haven't solved the unemployment problem."

"Wendell Willkie is an exemplification of the hopes of America. He understands labor, the American system of law, national defense and production."

Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor, asserted last night that thousands of WPA workers employed in Chicago the past two months would be discharged after the election unless they have political influence.

"The threat of discharge under this arrangement can be used to persuade these workers to vote 'right,'" said Green.

Green pledged "full and adequate relief" to those needing it if he is elected governor.

"As things are now, relief workers fear to take jobs because if the jobs end they must wait 60 days or more and beg some politician before they get back on relief," he added.

Green pledges Reform. "As governor I will see that a procedure is set up by which they will be back on relief in 24 hours."

Green's Democratic opponent, Harry B. Hershey, asserted in a radio speech last night that Green is "the candidate of the utilities in Illinois."

Senator Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, head of the Democratic mid-western campaign, said in a political address at Quincy last night that Green was a "vested interests" candidate of "vested interests."

Among those who stand to benefit by Green's election, the senator said, were "the corporations and holding companies who expect Green to change the tax law" for their advantage.

Homer Mat Adams, president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America and candidate for state treasurer, told a radio audience that during the past 7½ years "Democratic ideals" have become Democratic achievements.

Appealing for youth's support for the Democratic ticket, Adams said: "Never have the opposition leaders in Illinois manifested any concern for the welfare of youth except when confronted with an election."

In a speech prepared for a Democratic rally at Rock Island, Governor John Stettin asserted that "the one and only way to prevent war is to follow President Roosevelt by arming strongly, protecting our shores so securely that no dictator or group of dictators would dare to attack."

In 1933 the country was startled because the federal government spent a total of $4,325,000,000. However, after seven years of Roosevelt, the government deficit for the year (1939-40) is $4,032,000,000. And this deficit does not include any of the new spending for national defense. Representative Backhead of Alabama, who delivered the keynote speech at the Democratic national convention, said the party is going to run "on its record". It won't run very far on its administrative financial record. — Long Prairie, Minn., Leader.

DIXON, ILLINOIS

Does talk like this qualify Willkie to lead the greatest nation in the world?

Given below are expressions used in public interviews or speeches by Wendell L. Willkie, who aspires to be President of the United States and as such represent American culture before the world:

"I want to meet the champ."—In frequent interviews before his nomination.

"This fellow."—Speech at Peoria, referring to the President of the United States.

"Is this Cicero? Well, then, to hell with Cicero. We're outside of Chicago."—Speech at Cicero, Ill.

"I know the President thinks he can 'high-hat' me."—Speech at Joliet.

"I have worked as hard as any guy in this crowd, and if you give me a month's training, I will do as good work with my hands as any damned one of you."—Speech at Chicago Stockyards.

In Yonkers, N.Y., Willkie "pledged a new World."—Time Magazine.

"Is there any one here who is so damned dumb as to think that that can go on for four years more."—Speech at Chicago Stockyards.

Are these the utterances of a safe, reasonable and experienced man? Is this the temperament, or the type of man, able to maintain peace in America in the world's greatest crises? Contrast the above profane and reckless statements with what President Roosevelt recently said in Philadelphia:

"I'm a different kind of egg than the pros ever dealt with."—Quoted by Time magazine from interview.

Mrs. John Ralston Entertains for Miss Helen Joyce

Miss Helen Joyce was the honored guest at a dinner arranged last evening by Mrs. John G. Ralston at the lodge house at Reynoldswood for the ten young women employees of the Reynolds Wire Co. office.

The rustic lodge, with sprays of gay autumn leaves, and candle-lit tables decorated in the Halloween motif, was a perfect setting for the happy evening.

Dinner was followed by the playing of bacaro, with prizes going to Mrs. Frank E. Brown and Miss Bernice Risdon, with a guest prize for Miss Joyce. Favors consisting of flacons of Lelong perfume, delighted each girl in the group.

Miss Joyce, who is to become the bride, in November, of John McLane, was the recipient of a beautiful gift for her future home from her co-workers, as well as one from the hostess.

POLITICAL LEADERS ADDRESS FEDERATED WOMAN'S CLUB

Recognizing that politics comprise the most important national theme of the day, the members of the Lee County Federated Woman's club invited Henry C. Warner and John P. Devine as their guests for the annual meeting yesterday at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Mr. Warner as Lee county chairman of the Republican party spoke in behalf of his party and Mr. Devine represented the Democrats. As a former member of the legislature, Mr. Devine traced the history of women's franchise and asserted that good sense is needed in politics.

"During political campaigns," he said, "many efforts are made to deceive the people. No party has a corner on all good things, but both parties have made mistakes."

"There are many issues," he said, "some of them made to excite a certain class—those who do not use reason. At election time, he charged, 'we, as voters, must weigh the service which each party has given and then in the light of comparison, we must exercise good judgment.'"

Mr. Devine is aware of the vast expenditures of money during this administration, but finding the various charitable, penal and education institutions overcrowded and in bad shape he believes that it is necessary to enlarge the appropriations in order to correct or remedy the conditions. "To have reduced expenses," he said, "would have been a mistake."

Regarding unemployment, modern machinery, he declared, has improved each year and has replaced millions of men. "It therefore has been hard to provide jobs for everyone."

According to Mr. Devine's statements, the two presidential candidates agree on many issues and he cited the CCC camps and home and farm loans and benefits of the present administration. He claimed that during the seven and a half years of the Roosevelt administration there has been a great deal done to help the needy, "an investment in human lives and human happiness."

Mr. Devine closed his remarks with the statement that "we may see things in different ways, but we are all friends after election."

As representative of the Republican issues," Mr. Warner declared that this campaign means much to the future life of America. "First," he said, "in reviewing the record of the last seven and a half years, instead of reducing the national debt, it has been doubled. Also the number of boards instead of being reduced has increased from 14 to 131. Not a single year have they balanced the budget."

"The 18th amendment was repealed as promised, but a man in the high office of President should not have the confidence and respect of all and should not be re-

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

Superior Schiedmen

On a reverse from Wolf to Riser, Weaver tackled him for a four yard loss. Woodyatt punted to Kelly who was tackled on the Dixon 28 after a return of about two yards.
On a reverse, Sanborn to Kelly, the Dukes picked up a yard and Sanborn loped it on a spinner.
Padilla's pass to Kelly was short and Sterling was penalized for defensive holding and the Dukes gained a first down to the 34.
Sanborn carried the ball through center for five yards and on a spinner he picked up a couple of yards more. He hit the left side of the line for a yard and Kelly punted out of bounds on the Sterling 32.

Wolf swept the right side of his own line and went to the Sterling 39 where Valle made the tackle. Griesser went through right guard and tackle for a yard and Woodyatt smacked the center of the forward wall for eight yards and a first down.

Woodyatt Stopped

Woodyatt was stopped for no gain and in one of the best tackles of the game Shultz rushed in and nailed Fenner for a 10 yard loss on a reverse.
Griesser's pass to Wolf was good for 20 yards to the Dixon 40 and on a sweep of right side of Dixon line Wolf went 28 yards to the Dukes' 12 where Walder made the tackle and stopped what looked like a sure touchdown.

Wolf, carrying the ball again, picked up nine and a half yards off tackle and Woodyatt went through center for a first and goal to go on the Dixon 2.
With four downs in which to make it, the Sterling team clicked.
On the first place Wolf went to the one-foot line on a right tackle smash and Woodyatt drove through for the goal on the next play. Woodyatt's place kick attempt was blocked. Dixon 7;
Sterling 13.

Pass Good for 13 Yards

With two minutes and 35 seconds left to play, Dixon took the ball after the kickoff and starting on their own 43 Sanborn was thrown for a yard loss on the first play. Sanborn's pass over the line was broken up by Ridge and Padilla's pass went far over the head of Shultz. Padilla passed again and it was good to Kelly for 13 yards and a first down to the Sterling 44.

Dixon began a drive. Padilla's pass to Shank was no good, and then the unexpected happened.
Padilla passed again and intercepting the ball in the flat zone, Ridge had a clear field to the goal as he stepped off 55 yards for the "unnecessary" touchdown.
Woodyatt's attempted placement failed. Dixon 7; Sterling 19.
There wasn't much left after that and the stands began to empty as Sterling kicked off to the Dukes. Dixon was penalized five yards for too many times out and three passes, all by Sanborn, failed. The last was intercepted by Steadman as the game ended and he stepped out of bounds on the Dixon 27.

TENNESSEE MAY MEET BOSTON IN SUGAR BOWL TILT

Atlanta, Nov. 1.—(AP)—You can print on your handband the names of Tennessee and Boston college as probable New Year's day opponents in New Orleans'
Sugar Bowl football classic.

And Clemson of South Carolina is rated an odds-on choice for the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., with speculation that undefeated Georgetown might be invited as an opponent.

With the bids only a month away, there are few teams of bowl calibre ready, willing and able to fill the exacting bill. Fewer still are available in the south, and both the Sugar Bowl and Orange Bowl like a southern flavor on one side of the field when the teams line up.

Sugar Bowl officials are traditionally reluctant to speculate on probable choices. But sports writer Fred Digby, of the New Orleans Item long has been associated with the Sugar Bowl group, and is regarded as something of an unofficial spokesman through his column. And his word is Tennessee vs. Boston College. Best bet is that unless there is an upset for one of these, or Digby is overruled, that will be the choice of officials.

Digby contends that Texas A. & M., last year's Sugar Bowl winner, is Rose Bowl-bound, and rates the Aggies definitely out of the Sugar Bowl speculation.

Orange Bowl officials discourage talk of probable entries.
Chairman Will M. Preston of the schedule committee insisting "it's still a wide open proposition."
Southern sports writers, however, think if Clemson gets by Tulane tomorrow and Auburn a week hence, the powerful Tigers are a cinch for Miami.

ILLINOIS HIGH SCHOOL CAGE TOURNAMENTS WILL TAKE MONTH TO COMPLETE

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Choosing the Illinois high school basketball champions next spring will require a month.

There will be five tournaments involved—the district, regional, sectional, quarter-final and final.
The districts start February 26, and end March 1. The regional and sectional tournaments follow at one-week intervals, the quarter-finals are scheduled for March 18, and the finals March 21 and 22.

Under this setup, there will be only four teams in the final.
Previously there had been 16 and the tournament lasted three days.

The dates and schedules were announced in the latest issue of the Illinois interscholastic magazine of the Illinois High School association.

The site of the final tournament was not announced. It has been held for many years at the University of Illinois, Champaign.

"Apron String Revolt," a three act comedy, will be presented November 15 at 8 o'clock in the Amboy Township high school auditorium. It is being directed by Miss Ida Margaret Lewis.

The cast was chosen from a great many candidates, which should insure an excellent performance by the thirteen people who were selected.

What becomes of the boy who was tied to his mother's apron strings and tried to get away by going out for football? What happens when the mother falls in love with the coach? These are some of the questions raised in the amusing plot of "Apron String

State's Quota of Men for Army May Be Known Monday, Director Says

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Nearly a million men registered for the draft in Illinois but Paul G. Armstrong, state selective service director, estimated that not more than 1,000 would be called to service November 18.

The director said yesterday that the exact Illinois quota probably would be known by Monday. He reported that more than 962,000 prospective draftees had registered.

Armstrong announced that a "fair and impartial" system would be established so that each of the 361 draft boards in Illinois certified approximately the same number of men for service.

In that event no more than three men would be called from each of the state's draft boards.

A census now being conducted by the army, the navy and the marine corps, Armstrong said, would determine the number of men to be summoned from Illinois and other states by next July 1.
States will be credited with the number of men they already have furnished for the armed service.

Lowden Gives Hearty Endorsement to Green

Warm endorsement of Dwight
H. Green came today from Frank
O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois. In a statement received at the headquarters of the Republican candidate for governor, Mr.
Lowden said:

"The people of Illinois are fortunate at this time in having an opportunity to vote for such a man as Dwight H. Green for governor. His record in the World War was a brilliant one; his record, as United States District Attorney in Chicago, was equally brilliant.

"He has made two strenuous campaigns—one for mayor of Chicago, the other for governor of the state. If there had been a flaw in his character, it would have been uncovered before now.

"I believe him to be fully qualified for the high office of governor. If elected, as I believe he will be, I am sure there will be no scandals in the administration of his office. I recommend him wholeheartedly and unreservedly to the voters of Illinois."

Over-Zealous Guard at Prison Dismissed Today

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)— Joseph E. Ragen, superintendent of Illinois prisons, said today he had ordered the dismissal of Malcolm Brown, 31-year-old guard at the old prison here, as a result of Brown's actions last night in connection with a Republican torchlight parade.

Brown was seized by police who said he had climbed aboard a float and ripped pictures of Republican presidential candidate Willkie. A charge of disorderly conduct was placed against the guard and he was released on bond pending a hearing.

Ragen, a Democrat, in announcing Brown's dismissal said "such practice cannot be tolerated."

What a man—what a man!
Willkie was sent to the thinking people of this nation at a time of great distress. He is a philosopher. He will work for the good of America.

GOP Dollar Day in State Saturday

Tomorrow is Republican Dollar
Day, with the flood of early mailers for their badge of honor
"Willkie Contributor" pin sweeping the nation.

Orval J. Nease of the Church of the Nazarene of Kansas City, Mo., sent in his dollar. Nease wrote
"enclosed find a dollar, a bit the worse for wear, brought into my possession during the New Deal reign of 'Prosperity'."

Mrs. A. E. Flick of Dubuque, Iowa, sent in her dollar and a victory report from her locality. She put the need for Willkie at a par with the necessity to name Lincoln during the Civil War.

"The success of your commendable efforts will have a salutary effect on the whole country," wrote
W. G. Smith of Benton Harbor, Mich. "I am hoping for an honest election in Chicago."

An eleven year old Chicago girl mailed in her weekly allowance—fifty cents—because she wrote that Willkie reminded her of her father, both being hardworking men. General Thomas S. Hammond, chairman of the Illinois Republican Finance Committee, 80
East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, ordered the contributor pin be mailed her.

Better Government Assn. Endorses Willkie Ticket

Wendell L. Willkie and the entire Republican state ticket headed by Dwight H. Green, for governor, and C. Wayland Brooks for senator, today was endorsed by the Better Government Association of Chicago. This impartial civic group has been making known its unbiased recommendations to voters for seventeen years. They have at times endorsed Democrats as well as Republicans.

The association, in making its recommendations, stated: "In connection with the state, county and municipal tickets, the one fundamental issue before the voters is the perpetuation of the Kelly-Nash-Arvey Plunderbund. . . No single candidate on the hand-picked Democratic ticket has lifted his voice in any expression of criticism of the Kelly-Nash-Arvey machine. The obvious conclusion is that to beat the machine we must beat the candidates."

18 Women Bidding for District and State Positions

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)— Eighteen women are in race for state and district offices in Illinois this fall.

The list includes two candidates for seats in Congress, one for state senator, and four who seek re-election to the Illinois house of representatives.

Congresswoman Jessie Sumner,
41-year-old auburn-haired former Iroquois county judge who is completing her first term in the house at Washington, is out to maintain her record of never having been defeated in an election campaign.

Miss Sumner, whose home is Milford, carries the Republican standard in the 18th district against former Congressman James A. Meeks, Danville Democrat, whom she displaced in his fourth term attempt in the 1938 election.

The candidate for state senator is Miss Mary Davidson, Carthage Democrat, a state representative two terms (1930-1934). Miss Davidson, editor and publisher of the Carthage Republican, a weekly newspaper which has been in her family for 70 years, is running in the 32nd district against the incumbent Republican Senator, T.
Mac Downing of Macomb.

Should she win, Miss Davidson would be the second woman to sit as a state senator in Illinois. Mrs.
Florence Fifer Bohrer of Bloomington, a Republican who was elected in 1924 and re-elected in 1928, was Illinois' only woman state senator.

Seek Re-election
The candidates for the state lower house all are incumbents seeking to continue at their posts.
They are Mrs. Bernice T. Van der Vries of Winnetka, Republican, who is unopposed in the Seventh district Mrs. Maud N. Peffers of Aurora, Republican, 14th district;
Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove, Republican, 41st district, and Mrs. Lizzie Barnes of Carm, Democrat, 18th district.

Illinois' second woman congressional aspirant in the November 5 election is one of the Prohibition party's candidates for "congressman-at-large." She is Mrs. Lena Duell Vincent of Evanston.

Other women candidates for state offices are Mrs. Harriet L.
McBride, Evanston, Prohibitionist nominee for secretary of state;
Mrs. Georgia Albright, Waukegan, Socialist, seeking the audi-torship of public accounts, and Miss Ina M. White of Chicago,
Socialist, for state treasurer.

Eight women are in the running for trusteeships of the University of Illinois. They are:
Miss Bruce A. Campbell, Belleville, and Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb, Chicago, Democrats; Mrs. Helen Mathews Gigsby, Pittsfield, Republican; Miss Kate M. Ward, Downers Grove, and Miss Eva S.
Cowan, Chicago, Socialists, and Miss Mildred E. Young of Chicago, Mrs. Maude Swits Stowell of Rockford, and Mrs. Lois Gilbert Krandall of Chicago, Prohibition-ists.

Mystery Fire Sweeps War Bureau

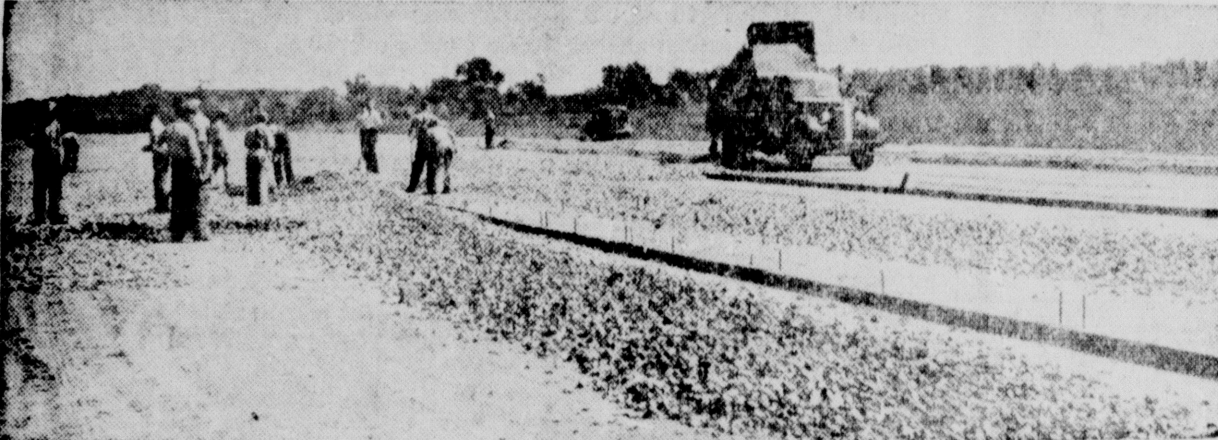

(NEA Telephoto.)

An early morning fire burning the upper floor of the war department's Munitions building in Washington, D. C., extensively damaging a section containing records, some of them secret. There was no official statement as to whether important documents were destroyed.

Army Prepares to Welcome National Guardsmen

Here's photographic proof that Uncle Sam is literally expanding his muscuss for defense. To provide accommodations for the National Guardsmen recently called to active service means new Army camp facilities all over the nation. Fort Dix, N. J., needed a $5,500,000 building program to take care of its 20,000 incoming New York and New Jersey guardsmen. Above, one of its many new barracks gets under way. Below, workmen speed one of the three runways, each a mile long, for Fort Dix's new airport.

Hitler Talks Stir Peace Appeal Rumors

War-Painted Wings Over the Philippines

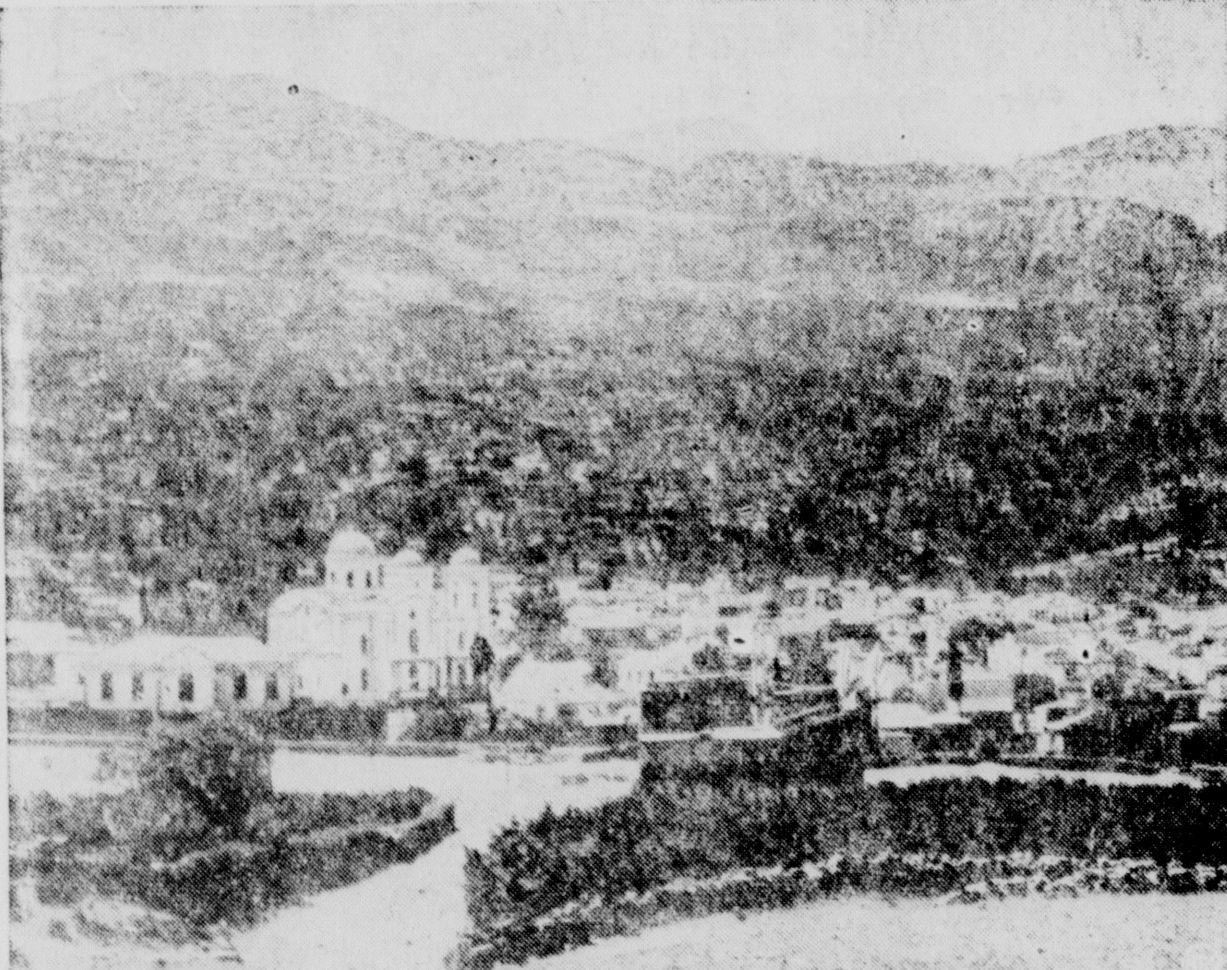

American wings with their war paint on soar protectively over the Philippine Islands as the U. S. Army orders aviation units in the Islands to be prepared for any eventuality. The squadron of fast combat planes pictured above is on duty at Camp Nichols, near Manila, and reinforcements have been ordered from the United States.

Dunkirk—City of Horror

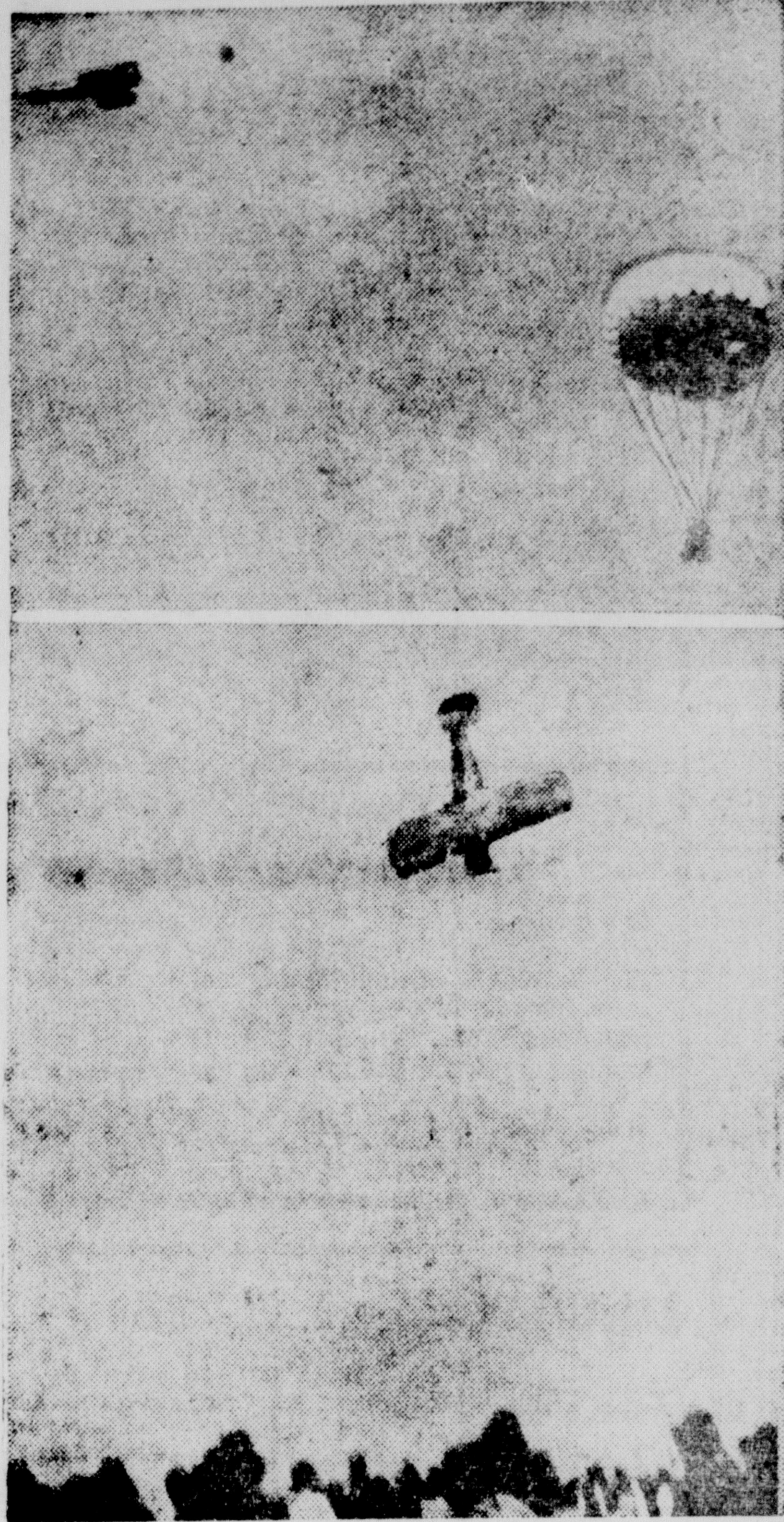

Few cities will go down in history as the scene of such heroic resistance or such a miraculous retreat as Dunkirk, France. And few cities have paid so high a price for fame. Air view of town, above, almost every building gutted and smashed by bombs, was taken from German plane. Photo just arrived in the United States.

Crete—Strategic Pawn of War

Speeding to Greece's aid after the Italian invasion, Great Britain was reported to have occupied the island of Crete. It is strategically important, lying between Greece and Egypt, near the Italian-held Dodecanese Islands. Above is view of Cretan city of Neapolis.

Plane Hits 'Chutist; 6 Die

(NEA Telephoto.)

In one of the strangest air accidents in aviation history, Paul Zalewja, 31, Bowerville, Minn., parachutist; Pilot George Zarn, 27, Greenville, Miss., and the latter's four passengers were killed when Zarn's plane struck Zalewja in the air above Marianna, Ark., airport and crashed. An amateur photographer, L. F. Dupuy, made these pictures: The plane approaching the chute (upper photo), and plummeting to earth, entangled in the chute (lower).

FROM WHERE HE SITS

Ed Lemon, former coach at Steward high school, is today's guest picker. Ed, who is now teaching at the University high school at Champaign, has his 12 inches reserved on the 50-yard line and has seen the Illinois in all their home games. From where he sits, he thinks the Zuppke boys should take Wisconsin tomorrow. Of the Notre Dame team which trounced the Illinois last week, he says, "I believe this is the strongest Notre Dame team in years. They do everything perfectly and although they didn't use their passing here, it is superb."

By EDWARD LEMON

I wish I were endowed with the prophetic power of Mother Shipton, but since I am not I'll scratch out a few more hairs on some of these predictions, and hope that this is not the week for the "long shots."

Alabama at Kentucky. Barring any unwarranted feuds, I take Alabama, 13-6.

Oregon State at California. The sun will shine at Berkeley, Calif. 20, Oregon State 7.

Arkansas at Texas A. & M. Arkansas has the girls but A. & M. has the football team. A. & M. 20, Arkansas 0.

Baylor at T. C. U. One of my friends from T. C. U. says I'm wrong, but I will still pick Baylor, 19-6.

Brown at Yale. There is a sign on the Eli campus which says "Each defeat is but an installment to a further victory." It's up to them to prove it for me, Yale 7, Brown 6.

Clemson at Tulane. The Tigers can scratch but the Green Wave can take it. Tulane 14, Clemson 7.

Columbia at Cornell. The waters of Cayuga shall remain quiet. Cornell 31, Columbia 6.

Georgia Tech at Duke. They say in Atlanta that one should never second-guess Tech, so I am hoping that my first guess is good. Duke 13, Tech 3.

Illinois at Wisconsin. At last there are no Piepuls, Harmons, Robertson, Westphals, or Fontas. Of course, it's Illinois—the school 14-6! North Carolina at Fordham. Send your regrets to Chapel Hill and your congratulations to the Woolworth building. Fordham 10, North Carolina 0.

Indiana at Ohio State. Ohio State back with a vengeance! Ohio State 21, Indiana 0.

Purdue at Iowa. If Dixon claims part of the Iowa football team, I choose Iowa, 21-12.

Louisiana State at Tennessee. This should be a good game, but Tennessee is "king" at Knoxville, Tenn. 21, L. S. U. 7.

Minnesota at Northwestern. I have scratched out a few hairs on this one. It's a battle of two great teams, and the line strength may decide the issue. Northwestern to win, 6-0.

Notre Dame at U. S. M. A. Unless an epidemic breaks out in South Bend, the Army will surrender. Notre Dame 44, Army 0.

U. S. N. A. at Penn. The Navy had better use the battleship S. S. North Carolina for a fullback if it expects to make a hole in the Penn line. It's Penn 20, Navy 0.

Stanford at U. C. L. A. Without using its tomahawk, it is Stanford to the Rose Bowl. Stanford 28, U. C. L. A. 0.

Southern Methodist at Texas. I expect to make a mistake here too, so I choose S. M. U. to win, 12-7.

Y. U. at Missouri. Too much Chrisman, Missouri 19-6.

Nebraska at Oklahoma. The Nebraska passing attack should function O. K. Nebraska 28, Oklahoma 0.

While we are on the subject of football, I might give you my idea of a famous last line. It is one that can stand the co-ordinated thrusts of Harmon, DeCorvett, Piepul and Scott.

Next Week—COACH MARVIN WINGER
OF Dixon High School

HOW THEY FINISHED

It takes the Mendota-Princeton game tonight to determine the final standings in the North Central conference, but as far as Dixon and Sterling is concerned the show is over. Sterling went undefeated and untied for five wins. Dixon won three, lost one and tied one.

THE "MOURNING" THAT COMES AFTER

First of all, let us say: "Congratulations to Coach Ted Scheid and his Sterling football team. You are a first class outfit and while Dixon would like nothing better than to defeat you, you don't deserve to lose. Local fans are saying that today." Bright spots of the evening were many. . . the Dixon band never looked better and a great deal of credit goes to Orville Westgor for drilling them so well. . . we liked the way they saluted the Sterling stands and played "Playmates," . . . praise to Athletic Director A. C. Bowers and his staff for the excellent way in which the crowd was handled. . . except for the natural cries of "down-in-front" which haunt a sports writer long after his lamp is out, the fans of both teams were in the best of humor. . . Dr. Raymond Worsley and Paul Potts did an efficient job of announcing on the public address system. . . one unhappy Dixon fan was heard to murmur as he walked home, "Now if my favorite presidential candidate loses next week, I'll consider I've had a rough time of it."

INJURED PLAYER

Keith Brown, playing left end on the Sterling freshman-sophomore team, suffered a severe cut above his right eye in the preliminary game and three stitches were required to close the wound. Nothing like a "mere scratch," however, kept the stalwart young player from sticking around to watch that varsity tilt.

TO PRO GAME SUNDAY

Among the Dixon fans who will attend the pro football game between the Bears and Green Bay Packers in Chicago Sunday are Ken Detweiler, Chet Barriage, Earl James, Walter Knack, A. C. Bowers, Rocky Wolfe, the Chicago scribe who did that swell job of announcing at the dedication of Dixon's lighted field, will announce the pro game Sunday.

INDIVIDUAL PERFORMANCES

Woodyatt of Sterling, high scorer of the conference, carried the ball for a net total of 29 yards last night or an average of 4 yards every time he had the ball. Hubbard romped 71 yards for an average of 7. Fenner, who carried the ball only twice went 28 yards and an average of 14. Wolfe picked up 41 yards for an average of eight. Of the Dixon ball carriers Sanborn gained 69 yards for an average of three; Kelly 42 for an average of four; Walder three for an average of one and Padilla eight for an average of two.

NEXT ON THE DOCKET

The season isn't over yet. There's still the game with the alumni next Friday night and it promises to be a proper affair with the grads offering one of the best teams in a long time. Bill Christos, according to reports, is not too old to play in the line for the oldsters and will be out for practice when the team meets under the lights Monday night.

THE LAST WORD

To wind up the talk about that game last night, we believe it was one of the cleanest Dixon-Sterling games in a long time. Dixon players even commented on the good sportsmanship of the Scheidmen, thus adding a feather in the Dukes' own cap. For hours after the game Sterling blasted horns through the city and had a great time. Who can blame them? It was their night to howl. We want to do that next year at Sterling.

DeKalb's high school gridders, 1930 North Central conference champions, suffered their fifth setback of the season on the home field last night when they were thumped 28 to 0 by Belvidere.

On a 35-yard passing play in the first period Wright scored the first touchdown and Funderburg added the extra point.

In a march from mid-field Belvidere scored again in the second period when Beck went over the goal.

In the third period, Davis of DeKalb attempted to punt back of his own goal and when he fumbled the ball he was tackled by Wright for a safety for two points for the Baumgartner team.

Funderburg scored on a 24-yard run in the last period and later sprinted about 15 yards for the final Belvidere goal.

The Belvidere underclassmen won the preliminary game 19 to 0.

Sterling's A-1 football players signed their names to the North Central conference's declaration of independence here last night in letters bigger than those of John Hancock as their galloping ghosts romped to a 19 to 7 Hallowe'n victory over a Dixon team whose only hope had been for an upset.

It took the speedy new champions to bring out the best performances of Coach C. B. Lindell's boys and over 3,500 fans saw them play their top game of the season in spite of the defeat. Nothing can be taken away from the superior Sterling backfield and a squad of excellent blocking and tackling players, but when the laurel wreaths are passed out they should also be given to Ardell Bugg, Bill Shultz, Warren Walder, Clarence Kelly and Robert Sanborn of Dixon. Of these Shultz and Sanborn played at a height which matched the best of Sterling.

Sterling Did It

Dixon, recognizing from the start that Sterling has a bang-up outfit, made the Scheidmen sign for their supper. They pushed the champions around with everything they had with the idea that "we're from Missouri and you have to show us." And Sterling finally did.

Although the invaders won on a 12-point margin, the last touchdown overbalanced a fair estimate of the two teams. There is little doubt that the Scheidmen are one touchdown better than the Dukes but the way Lindell's poured into them last night, the extra goal contradicted the type of ball playing by both squads.

With Dixon scoring early in the first quarter, the Dukes took heart and threw a scare into the Scheidmen which no Hallowe'n skeleton could have produced. The visitors were quick to discount any beliefs in any supernatural upset, and rallied to tie the score by the halftime.

With intercepted passes by the carload, the two squads sashed back and forth across the gridiron as they gave their yelling fans plenty of chances to test their vocal strength.

Game Starts

The annual classic began with Duhm of Sterling kicking off to the Dixon 35 from where the Dukes began their play. On the first down Sanborn was stopped for no gain, and then added a yard through center. On a spinner he went off his own right tackle for four yards and Walder cracked right guard for 10 yards to the mid-stripe and first down.

Kelly was stopped at the line of scrimmage on a reverse and Padilla had the same luck on an off tackle drive. Padilla passed to Bugg and Dixon was given a first down when interference was ruled on the play. From the 35 yard line Kelly tried the right side of the Sterling line for no gain before he swept 35 yards around his own left end to the goal for the first touchdown of the game. Bill Shultz booted the extra point.

Team Becomes Inspired
An inspired Dixon team took the cue from the first touchdown and held the hosts for the rest of the quarter. Following the kickoff after the touchdown Sterling took the ball on the visitors' 25 yard line and Hubbard went through center for 5 yards. On a delayed buck Griesser picked up three yards and Woodyatt made it first down to the Dixon 47.

Sanford and Vaile of Dixon smothered Hubbard on a pass attempt and he lost about 14 yards. Griesser took a two hard loss on a delayed buck as the Dukes demonstrated the defenses which have served them well all season. Woodyatt passed over the line to Ridge and the gain was good for 13 yards but failed to make a first down after the losses. Hubbard punted to the Dixon 15.

On a delayed buck from Kelly to Sanborn the Dukes picked up three yards and Padilla cracked off tackle for three more yards. Kelly tried the right side of the Sterling line and lost two yards. Sterling was penalized 5 yards for offside and Kelly kicked to Andreas who was stopped on the Dixon 45 by Shultz.

Makes First Down

Hubbard tried the right side of his line and picked up a yard. On a delayed buck from Hubbard Griesser made it first down to the Dixon 44. Shiars and Weaver dropped Hubbard after he picked up a half yard and Woodyatt's pass over the line was good but Shultz intercepted the lateral and was dropped on the Dixon 38.

KeKilly picked up three yards driving off right tackle and Sanborn's spinner through the forward wall was good for two yards. Sanborn again cracked the line and this time made five yards for a first down as the quarter ended.

On a crisscross Sanborn went through the center of the line for about eight yards to the Sterling 40 and Walder picked up a yard through center. Sanborn's spinner made it first down to the Sterling 39.

Beautiful Punt

Griesser dropped Sanborn after a yard gain and Kelly was thrown for a two yard loss. Padilla's pass to Kelly was close but incomplete and Kelly punted a beauty down out of bounds on the Sterling 12 for a setback of 33 yards.

Griesser made a yard through center and on a stunning play with excellent interference Hubbard raced around Dixon's right end for 48 yards to the Dixon 41 where he was brought down by Padilla.

Hubbard picked up four yards on an off tackle smash and his pass to Woodyatt was good to Dixon 31 where Vaile made the tackle.

Riser made it first down to the Dixon 3 on a drive through center. On a delayed buck Griesser picked up a yard to the 29 from where a smart reverse play from Hubbard to Fenner found the latter in the clear and he stepped off 29 yards to the Dixon goal for the first Sterling touchdown.

SUPPOSING MR. WILLKIE IS ELECTED AS OUR PRESIDENT

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Supposing Wendell Willkie is elected President of the United States next month? What would it prove? What would the mandate be? What national program would be? What would the mandate be? What would the mandate be?

The election of Mr. Willkie in 1940 would mean:

1. That the American people believe the time has come to put an end to political trickery, the debauch of high public office by overweening ambition and by zeal-out bureaucrats, and that Mr. Willkie will select for his Cabinet—and for the administration of the important agencies of government—men whose sincerity is beyond question and whose qualifications for office are conceded. And America will then go forward.

2. That the American people believe that Mr. Willkie will retain in office those non-political men of experience who have become intimately familiar with the diplomatic problems of our international relations so that the government will not lose by the transition, and America will then go forward.

3. That the American people believe Mr. Willkie will give full power and authority to the experts who have been brought to the National Defense Commission but who hitherto have been sidetracked by New Deal radicals. And America will then go forward.

4. That the American people believe Mr. Willkie will see to it that their defense program is organized and carried out by business and industrial executives who understand that the weapons of modern war are mechanized and hence can be produced in quantity only by the highest state of efficiency in industry and business. And America will then go forward.

5. That the American people believe in the system of private initiative as opposed to government ownership and expect Mr. Willkie's broad experience to enable him to bring about the creation of a vast number of jobs in industry and business by encouraging the proper uses of private capital. And America will then go forward.

6. That the American people believe the rights of workers to organize and bargain collectively must be safeguarded from abuse by anybody and that Mr. Willkie can be expected to introduce the fair deal so that employers and employees will find themselves in a new partnership. And America will then go forward.

7. That the American people expect Mr. Willkie to tackle the relief problem on a basis that will mean not merely new hope but new jobs for the millions who have been given charity yet no genuine opportunity. This can be done by removing the obstacles imposed by the New Deal in the path of private industry's expansion. And America will then go forward.

8. That the American people expect the principle of fair trial and impartial hearings before government agencies to be restored and, to this end Mr. Willkie is expected to recommend the enactment of the Walter-Logan bill, already passed by the House but stalled in the Senate by New Deal radicals who believe in the totalitarian power of the government over the citizen. Passage of this measure would mean a new day in the relations of the citizens to his government. And America will then go forward.

9. That the American people want small business to be given an opportunity to compete with large business by permitting the raising of capital for small businesses. To accomplish this, Mr. Willkie is expected to recommend legislation exempting all capital issues under $1,000,000 from cumbersome and costly registration statements but subjecting them to laws against fraud. And America will then go forward.

10. That the American people want existing public power plants to be maintained in the public interest which means an honest accounting of the cost to be revealed so that the voters in each locality can learn whether they are getting lower rates for electricity or paying more in taxes. Lower electric light rates can be obtained through proper governmental regulation of private enterprises engaged in supplying power. Settlement of this question will mean the release of nearly $5,000,000,000 for much needed construction and improvement to private power plants and the creation of hundreds of thousands of jobs held by New Deal radicals. And America will then go forward.

11. That the American people believe the economic waste occasioned by the Wage and Hour Law can be eliminated and the pay envelopes of American workers increased through more opportunity to work. In many cases they have been given paper over-time rates and smaller pay envelopes than they had a decade ago. Once the waste in trying to make every industry the same when conditions and seasons vary is removed by the policies that can be expected of Mr. Willkie, the economic machine will begin to function better and the total money in the pay envelope will increase. And America will then go forward.

12. That the American people expect Mr. Willkie to eliminate the bureaucrats and their tricky regulations, hitherto an obstacle to capital flow. Once the billions of dollars idle in banks are released, the long term investment bank of the American people will be reopened. Planning on a long range scale will be resumed. And America will then go forward.

13. That the American people expect the anti-trust laws and monopoly statutes to be enforced, not as a means of blackmail to put into effect radical experiments, but really to stop collusion in price fixing and to prevent unfair competition. Mr. Willkie can be counted on to make business and industry obey these laws because they will know, when his attorney general seeks enforcement, that every factor has been weighed and that prosecution is absolutely essential in the public interest and not for political aims. And America will then go forward.

14. That the American people believe in a non-political judiciary and will expect Mr. Willkie to appoint in the case of vacancies, on either the Supreme Court or the lower courts, men of intellectual honesty, judicial temperament and demonstrated ability. And America will then go forward.

15. That the American people believe a solution of agricultural ills can be found and that it will be found by Mr. Willkie because he has an economic mind. Industrial and agricultural America have never sat down together in conference under government auspices. Mr. Willkie will provide leadership for such a union. And America will then go forward.

16. That the American people believe this is a $100,000,000,000 country whose national income can be raised to that figure if there is no brake put on the velocity of legitimate business transactions and if the consumption of goods in the home market is properly encouraged through the increase in jobs and the totals in the pay envelopes. Mr. Willkie's mind has been occupied with the spirit of constructive achievement all his life and not with the fads and fancies of destructive collectivism so he can be counted on to apply business experience to economic problems. And America will then go forward.

17. That the American people are tired of promises to cure the evils of overlapping Federal, state and city taxation and expect Mr. Willkie to approach the problem by conferences of experts and concrete legislative recommendations. And America will then go forward.

18. That the American people expect Mr. Willkie to see to it that government officials do not violate Federal laws and that a public accounting is given frequently of all lump sum appropriations granted by Congress. And America will then go forward.

19. That the American people expect Mr. Willkie to prosecute vigorously the income tax frauds perpetrated by political bosses in connection with Federal, state or city government projects so that the parasites and racketeers will cease to collect the toll they take from businesses and their workers. And America will then go forward.

20. That the American people believe Mr. Willkie will bring national unity by ending class war at home and that he will conduct the foreign policy of the United States so as to insure the return of peace to the world by mobilizing the material and moral forces of a united country. And America will then go forward.

21. That the American people believe in integrity, dignity, fairness, sincerity and intellectual honesty where their public servants are concerned and that they believe Mr. Willkie will be forthright, candid, fearless and honest in his conduct of both the domestic and foreign policies of the United States so that there will be a new respect for America's might abroad and a new devotion and loyalty to a President's leadership at home.

And America will then go forward to the destiny which God has set aside for human beings who can banish selfishness and greed from their lives and recognize the simple virtues of human brotherhood as the greatest force that can save mankind from the dictatorship of evil ambition which threatens us both inside and outside our borders.

DETROIT NEWS FOR WILLKIE IN EMERGENCY
Detroit, Oct. 25—In a page 1 editorial yesterday the independent Detroit News said that "the present emergency demands the election of a new president—Wendell L. Willkie."

"The president's eight years have been marked by a deliberate exploitation of disunity," the editorial said. "In advancing social legislation for which there was obvious need he has gone so far as to promote class dissension, which democratic statesmanship should seek to adjust and compose."

The News, which supported no candidate in 1936, announced it believed in endorsements only in periods when an emergency existed and declared it believed the current campaign an "extreme emergency."

After reading a candidate's card, a Harper woman said: "I see this man wants me to support him. I have been supporting my husband for the past ten years and I don't see how I can support any more men."—Harper, Kan., Advocate.

FREE PRESS FOR WILLKIE

Detroit, Oct. 28—The Detroit Free Press, in its Monday editions, editorially endorsed Wendell L. Willkie for election as President.

In part, the editorial stated: "When class wars become an established part of our lives, democracy dies and the foundations of our republic crumble into dust. 'If, in two terms, Franklin D. Roosevelt as the leader of all the people has not been able to unite them, The Free Press is unable to find any cogent reason to believe that he can achieve that end by giving him a third term.

"We, therefore, endorse the candidacy of Wendell L. Willkie."

Put a cross in the large circle at the top of the Republican ballot.

WHY BRING THAT UP?
Chicago, Oct. 26 — Perhaps I missed it, but I did not hear our president in his speech the other night tell us what General Vandenberg corporation (Camco) securities sold for in 1929 and what they are worth today.
